SOCIAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES	Since I was at university I enjoyed the opportunity of working with my colleagues. During the master degree it was quite common for students to work together in study groups, in order to make research on specific topics and make oral presentation to the class. Examples of explored topics includes: Italian higher education system, work-flow analysis, public administration reform in Italy, national development strategy in the context of EU. These experiences helped me to develop methodological and team working skills, such as cooperation, presentation and coordination. I was also student assistant from 2003 to 2008 and I was responsible for assisting other students, especially part-time students, with administrative tasks.
COMPUTER SKILLS AND COMPETENCES	ECDL certificate. Competent with the main office software. Competent in the use of internet for communication, research and evaluation.:
